

ND New Designers

Miss Pattni – Textiles teacher

On Friday, 1st July, I was thrilled to be able to take the new Year 9 GCSE Textiles students to the New Designers exhibition in London. The show displays a stunning selection of work from a variety of disciplines - ceramics, jewellery design and of course textiles, all produced by some of the UK's finest university students and graduates.

We were all amazed by the bespoke clothing, fashion accessories, furniture and jewellery, individually designed and made from scratch. The show invites school and sixth form students to take a look around, speak to the designers and get inspired to create their own unique pieces. We even got to collect postcards of work that we loved the most!

What the students said:

Aidan Whitley has inspired me the most because I liked his use of graphic patterns and bright colours. I will think about how I can interpret his work into my future ideas and projects – Holly Meager

'I was really inspired by Anna Corcoran's swimsuits, as they were very original. I loved how the colours stood out and how different types of jewellery were used to make the swimsuits more eye-catching'. – Georgia Sargent

'The designer that inspired me was Cassia Foulkes. She mainly had dresses that used long, flowing, and lacey materials. She had used mainly dark colours and embroidery that was very detailed and intricate. This is something I want to try and use in my work next year'. – Chloe-Mai Carpenter.

Word of the Week (WOW) at Bushey Meads

Danielle Bowe - Lead Practitioner for English and Whole school Literacy

This week's WOW, aesthetic, is in honour of the recent achievements of the Art department and their fantastic A level exhibitions, both here and in central London! Aesthetic.

Word of the Week

11.7.16

Pronounce it: Ass-the-tic

From Greek aisthētikos, from aisthēta 'perceptible things', from aisthētai 'perceive'. The sense 'concerned with beauty' was coined in German in the mid 18th century and adopted into English in the early 19th century.

Definition

adjective

- Concerned with beauty or the appreciation of beauty
- Giving or designed to give pleasure through beauty

The adjective aesthetic comes in handy when discussing beauty or the arts. A painting of a beautiful countryside scene by Constable could be said to be aesthetically pleasing.

Aesthetic, from a Greek word meaning "perception," soon came to refer to good taste and to artistry in general; if something has "aesthetic value," it has value as a work of art (even if nobody will pay much for it). It does not, however, refer to the objects themselves; do not talk about an "aesthetic painting."

Examples in sentences:

- 'The 'impressionist' collection was designed to give gallery visitors great aesthetic pleasure.'
- In GCSE or A Level PE, we might describe 'skilful movement' as being aesthetically pleasing.

Use it instead of:
Decorative, ornamental, graceful, elegant, beautiful, attractive, pleasing

Challenge: use this word in a conversation, or piece of writing this week.

Aesthetic

Childcare Celebration Event

Mrs Bowyer – Childcare teacher

On the afternoon of Thursday, 7th July, years 10 and 12 childcare students hosted a “Celebration of Childcare”.

After spending 3 weeks planning the celebration tea party, which included: decorations, party games, itinerary, invites, food, and much more, the year 10s, with the guidance of the year 12s, made the appetizing sandwiches as well as the eye-catching decorations.

When planning the food, we researched different foods related to the tea party theme we had in mind. We looked at several unique ideas that we thought would be an interesting addition to the tea party, like the marvellous mini Victoria sponges handmade by Ruby-Victoria Harwin, along with the exquisite homemade brownies made by the hands of Esther Ayani! We were also delighted by the exemplary cupcakes, with outstanding decoration, made by the delicate hands of Chelsea Finch! All the attendees were very impressed by the exceptional homemade treats that added a certain “je ne sais quoi” to the afternoon!

During the later session, we took the parents and carers of years 10 and 12 childcare students down to Little Reddings, where several year 12s currently do their first year of placement. We showed them a short presentation about what both the level 2 and level 3 courses include and what could be expected from the course. This was followed by a small tour around the Reception classroom before heading back to Bushey Meads to continue the celebration.

For the celebration, we made a display board based on the theme of summer and decided to film the process to present at the celebration. This was to give the up-coming childcare students an insight into some of the activities the year 12s do on their course.

Overall, the hard work that went into making the celebration was definitely worth the effort! The ‘Childcare Celebration’ was a huge success and a great experience for all who came

Mrs Ash – Assistant Headteacher

We are holding special celebration assemblies on the last day of term where we will be issuing students with reward certificates for achievements in lessons, form time and for achieving a high number of reward points in a year.

We would like parents and carers to share in our celebrations and are therefore inviting you to attend the assembly for your child. Each assembly will last for approximately 40 minutes.

The assemblies will run as follows:

- 08:40 – Year 10
- 09:25 – Year 8
- 10:15 – Year 9
- 11:25 – Year 7

If you would like to attend could you please sign in on arrival at the School Restaurant before taking your seat in the Main Hall.

Bushey Meads and Hartsbourne School Art Collaboration

Mrs Hoskins and Mrs Waring

On Thursday 7th July two art teachers and four sixth form art students went to Hartsbourne school in Bushey for a whole day of fun and creativity involving drawing and clay work. Students from year five designed their own columns based on the "Take One Picture" scheme from the National Gallery and then proceeded to make these out of air drying clay. In the afternoon they then made enlarged versions of these out of modelling clay. These will be used to support a temple based on Rubens "A Roman Triumph".

Year two students produced small-scale elephants out of air drying clay and then went on to produce bigger versions of these out of modelling clay.

Sixth Form art students Kristy, Laura, Jade and Ella were on hand to help both year groups produce an exciting range of clay work.

Kristy and Laura particularly enjoyed interacting with the year 2 students and helping them model their elephants, whilst Jade and Ella preferred enabling year 5 students to join the clay to produce their columns. Many thanks to all the staff and students at Hartsbourne school!

Law In Action: Year 12 Trip to Legal London

Mrs Knowles – Law teacher

Catching the underground from Stanmore to St Paul's, the small group of Year 12 students currently studying law arrived in plenty of time to beat the queues entering the London Central Crown Court, 'The Old Bailey', to watch and experience law in action. Preparing to get through the various security impediments took some time. Bags were dropped off to a local shop, (as no bags, phones, water bottles are allowed in the courts), and students walked through the entrance, and up the first flight of stairs and through the metal detector one at a time. This level of security highlighted to the students just how important this courthouse is to the justice system.

Once the security hurdle was negotiated, the group from the Meads trekked up the three flights of stairs to access all 18 courts. The feel, even in the stairwell, was solemn, especially whilst walking past families awaiting entrance to watch proceedings personal to them. Our first stop was on the top floor for the beginning of a murder trial. The day before the jury had been chosen but proceedings were to be halted on this day as one juror was ill, the defendant 'unavailable' and the prosecution requesting more time. What was of interest to the students, though, was the formality of the proceedings. The eleven person jury was called in, only to be informed by the judge that the trial would start the next day. They were in the room less than five minutes before the court was adjourned.

The second court visited was a case of sexual assault, alleged to have taken place at work's Christmas party. Upon arrival, cross examinations were in full flow. The class found it extremely interesting to hear the way in which the questions from the lawyers were cleverly used to make the witnesses say exactly what they wanted. The trial provided the Year 12 students currently studying the topic of 'law and justice' the opportunity to witness the importance of the judge's role in ensuring fairness, consistency and justice within a courtroom. Several times the prosecution lawyer was stopped and told that her question was irrelevant or misleading. By the time the class left the courtroom, it appeared that most of the points won were by the defence, who managed to establish most of the witnesses and the defendant had all had a 12 foot gold leaf statue of 'Lady Justice' on top of the 67 foot considerable amount to drink and prior High dome the alleged incident, bullying of the defendant had taken place and that the alleged staring and stalking of the victim, was pure supposition. The trial goes on and the class will be eagerly checking the national newspapers to read about the outcome.

Our final court concerned a charge of terrorism. However, very few of the facts of the case were made apparent as throughout the time in the room, a tape of, we could only presume, the defendant was being played comparing western law and justice to that provided within the Sharia legal framework.

After a long but enjoyable break for lunch, the class underwent Ms Knowles' infamous tour of the legal landmarks of London, passing famous Inns of Court, legal bookshops and wig suppliers, to the Royal Courts of Justice. Meanwhile, Ms Court (Head of English) who also accompanied the trip, linked the famous landmarks to various texts by Charles Dickens. This enormous building houses the High Court and the Court of Appeal.

The class explored this historical building and soaked in the legal atmosphere whilst mingling with lawyers who were going about their everyday business. The courtrooms with their dark wood panelling and austere decor seemed less welcoming but the students rose admirably to the challenge to find 'Lord Justice Woolf', whose Civil Proceedings Rules the class had studied earlier in the year. One the second floor, near the costume exhibition, the class found him 'hanging around!' (see picture) but they were rather disappointed that they were unable to obtain an autograph.

Leaving the court, the class had photographs outside where the UK media interview people who have successfully challenged the system or celebs suing under the UK libel laws, (although, not all students managed a successfully convincing pose at the same time). Finally, exhausted, the budding lawyers made their back to the underground to catch the train home to Stanmore.

10 interesting Facts To Know About 'The Old Bailey'

1. The court is called 'The Old Bailey' after the name of the street on which it can found. The street is along the original fortified wall of the city (known as a 'bailey').
2. The current building is not the original. This building cost £392, 277 and was designed by E. W. Mountford and opened by King Edward VII in 1907.
3. The ornate main lobby and staircase used to be open to the public but now, since 1973, it is only seen by jurors and legal professionals.
4. In 1973, a car bomb outside the court exploded killing one person and injuring 200 others. A piece of glass from the explosion can be seen in the wall at the top of the main stairs.
5. The 'Lady of Justice' at the top of the dome, is not blindfolded, as she usually is. Instead she holds the scales of justice in one hand and a sword in the other and symbolises the UK legal adage: "'Not only must Justice be done; it must also be seen to be done.'" Hence the reason why most courts are open to anyone over the age of 14 years old.
6. In 1673, the then court building was open to the fresh air as one wall was missing. This was to reduce the risk of people in the court being infected by the prisoners suffering from gaol fever (typhus).
7. Prior to gas lighting being used, a mirrored reflector was placed above the dock, where the accused have to stand. The reflector was used to reflect light from the windows onto the face of the accused so that their face could be scrutinised clearly by the judge and jury in order to determine a truth or a lie.
8. When a miscarriage of justice occurs in the court, legend reports that the 'Old Bailey Ghost' appears. The ghost is supposed to be the spirit of a man wrongly convicted in the court, and subsequently hanged, for being a highwayman.
9. The court was built adjoining the infamous Newgate Gaol and once convicted, many convicts were led from the court, down 'dead man's walk' to be hanged publicly in an open square next to the court. Sometimes, 20 people would be hanged at the same time, in front of 100,000 spectators.
10. The court has heard many famous trials including that of the writers Daniel Defoe and Oscar Wilde; killers Dr Crippen, the Yorkshire Ripper, Peter Sutcliffe and Soham murderer Ian Huntley; the East End gangsters Ronnie and Reggie Kray and Tory MP and novelist, Jeffrey Archer.

Rocket car

Mr Chalkley – Head of Design and Technology

You may remember that year 7 Bushey Meads students had entered the Model Rocket Car Challenge a few weeks ago.

OAK house qualified in the top 30 schools in the UK and were invited to the National Finals Day at Santa Pod raceway in Northants.

Their challenge was to build a new model rocket car for the Finals Day racing. With some preparation and discussion meetings at school, the team travelled with Mr Fisher to the raceday on Tuesday 5th July.

The highly able students cut, sanded and drilled to produce their best car yet and achieved some fantastic results, with an overall final place of 5th fastest in the UK. This was an amazing achievement by a young team that I'm sure will go on to even greater things in the future.

The photo shows the students next to the Bloodhound SSC that will attempt to break the land speed record later this year. Who knows, but maybe some of our talented students may pursue a career in engineering an even faster car of the future. So, maybe it is "rocket science" after all!

Year 8 Spanish trip 4-8 July

Ryan Pearce – 8Willow

On Monday 4th July, forty students and 4 teachers set off to Barcelona at 4:50 in the morning! Everyone was very tired but our excitement kept us going! The accommodation in Spain was great fun as we stayed in traditional Spanish chalets.

Every morning we would drive by coach into Barcelona and we visited Las Ramblas, La Boquería (an amazing fruit market), Park Guell, Nou Camp, Pueblo Español and La Sagrada Familia. The sightseeing was really interesting and we learnt lots of Spanish! Every day the teachers made time for us to go swimming when we got back to Vilanova.

Everyone was always laughing and having a good time especially when the teachers were in the pool!

However the one thing that everyone will always remember is the dance night where we learnt the Salsa and the Cha Cha Cha.

Overall everyone had a wonderful time in the sun and would love to go again.

Sixth Form Induction Day

Year 11 into Year 12

Mrs Ash – Assistant Headteacher

Year 11 students who are joining the Bushey Meads Sixth Form in September attended an induction day Wednesday 13th July. They started the day with a welcome breakfast followed by an introduction to the Sixth Form team, and information about expectations within the Sixth Form.

The students then assembled into 6 groups to take part in a wide range of team building activities. The aim was for students to improve their ability to plan, communicate, be motivated and work. A great time was had by all with new friendships being formed and skills learnt.

Activities ranged from building a tower from spaghetti and marshmallows, pitching a tent when blindfolded, throwing and catching eggs to being able to balance a stick as group and simultaneously lower it to the floor (harder than you think!)

A great day was had by all and we are now looking forward to welcoming our new Year 12 students in September.

Mrs Gregory

After some enthusiastic debates in the first round on Monday and the semi-finals on Wednesday, we reached the final in the Hall on Thursday.

Well done to all the debaters who took part in any of the rounds.

There were some very well presented arguments from both Ash and Oak Houses on the topic of ADVANCES IN TECHNOLOGY ARE TO BE FEARED. The auditorium was full and there were some challenging questions from the audience.

The result was very close but the eventual winners were the Oak House team who are on the right in the above picture.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Mr. Back, LRC Manager
Mrs. McCombe , Mrs. Ellicott, Homework Club

Thank-you for your continued support and wishing you all a very happy summer holiday.

RECYCLING OF OLD UNIFORM

If anyone has outgrown uniform items which are still presentable, why not participate in the recycling programme we have for school uniform. That way not only does another Bushey Meads student have the benefit of the article, but it also helps to generate funds for Watford Mencap charity at the same time, not to mention avoiding the articles ending up in a landfill site!

There are three ways you can facilitate this: students can drop unwanted uniform in to the Pastoral Office, or parents can either bring the items in to Reception or take them straight to the Mencap Charity Shop in Bushey High Street.

Please support this initiative if you have any unwanted uniform items. Thank you
